New Tax Director in tax advisory team at JP Weber

Tomasz Bartoszek has joined JP Weber's Warsaw office, where, as Tax Director, he will be responsible for supervising and expanding the Tax Advisory Department at JP Weber.

Tomasz Bartoszek has long experience in tax advisory that he has gained in a company from the so-called Big Four, where he was involved in tax services for transactions conducted by corporate clients and Private Equity funds. He was also responsible for coordinating and performing due diligence processes, both on the buyer's and seller's side, and provided complex transaction support, including, in particular, advice in the structuring of international transactions of companies and participating in drafting investment agreements. He dealt with numerous cross-border restructuring projects and developed tax strategies for businesses. Tomasz has also a broad experience in advisory for entities operating in Poland, in the scope of current tax aspects.

"I am very pleased to join JP Weber's team and contribute to the company's further enhancement, offering my knowledge and involvement. I will also try to support all projects and build up the tax department to let us better meet our clients' expectations", says Tomasz Bartoszek.

At JP Weber, Tomasz will be responsible for the team development and for managing the Tax Advisory Department. In performing these responsibilities, he will cooperate closely i.a. with the Transaction Advisory Services and Mergers & Acquisitions team, undertaking as well as strengthening interdisciplinary services and projects.

"We are happy that Tomasz Bartoszek has joined our company. His competences and comprehensive experience in taxes are praiseworthy. We are convinced that Tomasz will add great value to our current and future projects", adds Grzegorz Piechowiak, Managing Partner at JP Weber.
